Dedication

In appreciation of his service to our school
The Senior Class of
New Bedford High School dedicate this June, Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-three Class Book to

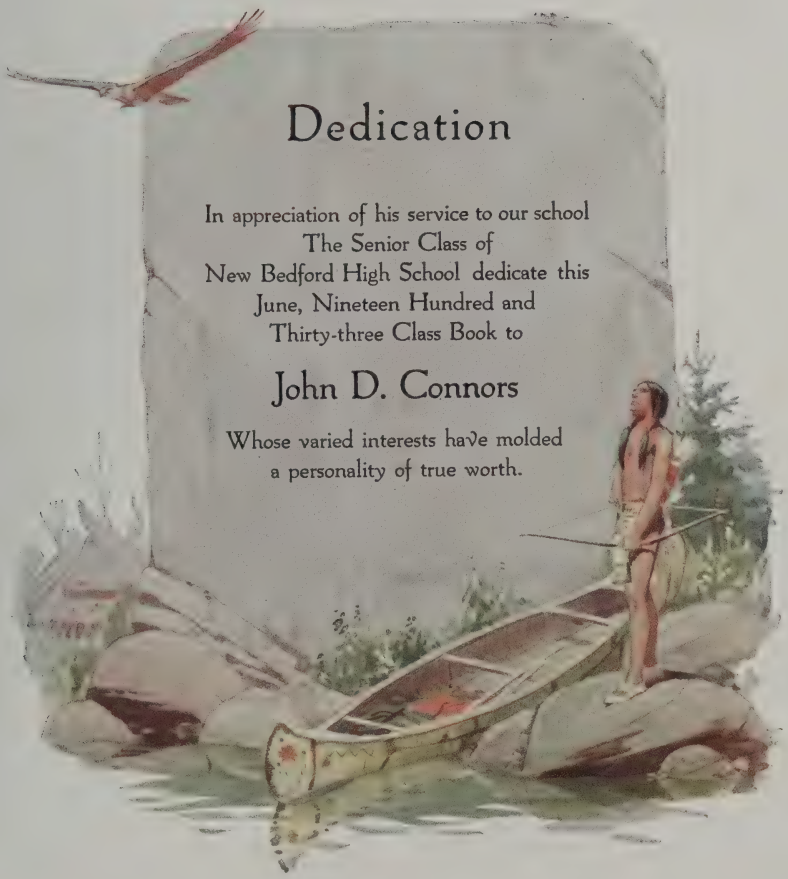
John D. Connors

Whose varied interests have molded
a personality of true worth.



JOHN D. CONNORS

Commencement Day

The youth of the world with happy faces beaming,
Joy, anticipation, in every heart,
Fresh and virile minds desiring, dreaming,
Each and every one to do his part.
Through the portals of life's grim corridors they pass
All confident; some destined to great deeds,
Some to depart like dew upon the grass,
Some lost like violets 'neath giant weeds.
Stand by old age, and give young blood a chance.
Perhaps they may succeed where you have failed;
They'll lend to realism some romance
That's sadly lacking since the aged have paled.
Here's to the future and what it holds in store
For them who now are standing by the door.

History

CLASS HISTORY

By ALAN RAMSBOTHAM

GRADUATION has come, bringing to a close four eventful years of study work, and play at the New Bedford High School. We are on the threshold of an unknown future whose difficulties and uncertainty confront us. Thus it seems fitting that, contemplating, we should review our past accomplishments, finding courage in their success.

Upon entering in September, 1929, we elected as officers: President, Harold Demoranville; Vice-President, Edward Mulally; Secretary, Warren Doane; Treasurer, Betty Taylor.

The only social happening of the first year was the Freshmen Reception, which was in reality our initiation into school life.

The officers for the sophomore year were: President, Harold Demoranville; Vice-President, Elmer Radcliffe; Secretary, Warren Doane; Treasurer, Ruth Robinson.

As we became more and more accustomed to the curriculum of the school, our interests took many different channels. As individuals the members of the class succeeded in gaining recognition in dramatics, in athletics, in the R. O. T. C., and in scholastic rating.

The next year we chose to be our leaders: President, Gertrude Ruzitsky; Vice-President, Elmer Radcliffe; Secretary, Betty Taylor; Treasurer, Ruth Robinson.

During this term we entered into the various fields of endeavor with increased energy. Several of our pupils exhibited real talent, bringing fame not only to themselves but also to our much esteemed school.

We held a Junior Prom, a social activity which proved to be a most colorful and enjoyable affair.

In athletics we were ably represented by many class members.

Football, the major sport, was played by William Abeshaus, Amos Taylor, Louis Veilleux, Ernest Torres, Alan Ramsbotham, Raymond Gobeil, David Aulisio, and Clinton Rimmer.

Those interested in Basketball were Clinton Rimmer, Ernest Torres, Gregory Luiz, Elmo McAuliffe, David Aulisio and Edwin Jones.

The list of participants in baseball, track and soccer, and tennis included Ellsworth Greenough, Louis Veilleux, Ernest Torres, David Aulisio, Raymond Dawson, and Alan Ramsbotham.

Orchestra, band, and glee club proved a great source of enjoyment for some members of the class.

Graduating R. O. T. C. officers were Louis Veilleux, Richard Lee, Lornts Nilsen, Ellsworth Greenough, Francis Calnan, Sheldon Morse, Oscar Morency, Louis Pacheco, Earl Hand, George Mitchell, and Lawrence Durfee.

Four of the sponsors of the R. O. T. C. graduated. They were, Jocelyn Case, Betty Taylor, Helen Marsden, and Beatrice Kingsley.

Active members of the Dramatic Club were, Marion Bussey, Barbara Davis, Rosalin Goldfarb, Bernice Horvitz, Lois Mason, Corinne Pierce, Betty Taylor, Muriel Tubby, and Warren Thomson.

Students chosen to serve as officers in our Senior year were, President, Gertrude Ruzitsky; Vice-President, Betty Taylor; Secretary, Jocelyn Case; Treasurer, Roland Kelly.

At this time Mr. Williams announced the names of the pupils who graduated with honors. They were, Valedictorian, Eleanor Holden; Salutatorian, Warren Thomson, Alan Ramsbotham, Aurillia Mikus, Thelma Beck, Edna Rogerson, Gertrude Ruzitsky, Edward Fisher, Oscar Morency, Alice Adamowska, Margery Hesford, Florence Briggs, Dorothy Crooks, Helen Marsden, Michael Procyk, Irene Goodhue, Edward Przybyla, Margaret Hill, Selma Kroudvird, Jennie Plaza, Claire Thuot, Ruth Horsfall, Ruth Senesac, Esther Levow, Lorraine Seguin, Raymond Dawson, Helen Sitarz, Carolyn Travers, Helen Jarusik, Laura Robak, Louise Collins, Dorothy Taffe, Stasia Kut, Kasmierz Czarnecki, Chester Darmofall.

On October 1, 1932 our coach, James P. Murphy, died. All who came in contact with him were influenced by his integrity, fairness, sportsmanship, sense of humor and of honor. He was a true gentleman in all respects.

Our Senior Prom was an undeniable success. It was indeed an appropriate farewell dance, in true accordance with the success of our other class activities.

The last informal social gathering of the class occurred at the Banquet. There, if ever, we enjoyed ourselves. Such a mixture of comradeship, entertainment, and good humor, together with the dancing and excellent food, could be nothing but a pleasant affair.

At last came the climax. In orderly rows we crossed the stage to receive our diplomas. We were no longer high school students, but high school graduates.

The happy days of carefree life at New Bedford High School are over, but their memory remains. Let us be glad of this; for in years to come, the memory of our school career will perhaps enable us to persevere and succeed in spite of all the misfortunes and trials of the world.

Prophecy

PROPHECIES

Classical Course

By STELLA JENKINSON

JOHN ABRAMS

Oh, why did Abrams leave his home
To join the army, when
He could have fought if he had joined
The ranks of married men!

BERTHA AUDICKAS

Bert Audickas will fix you up
To look so prim and pretty,
With little French curls and ringlets bold,
In her beauty shop down city.

THELMA BECK

Clara Bow must watch her step
When Thelma goes to Hollywood;
She'll capture a millionaire;
And spend the money that hubby earns,
Oh! Won't they make a peach of a pair?

JOCELYN CASE

Casey is now a cow-girl bold
Way out there in the West,
She ropes steers, cows, and woolly sheep,
But she ropes the men the best.

LEON COOPERSTEIN

We really don't know what to say
About this cheerful lad,
But we wish him both health and wealth,
And the best there's to be had.

MARTHA DANGELAS

Our Martha is so happy now,
From yellow cards she's free;
We hope she will be just as prompt
In her finding her hubby-to-be.

CHESTER DARMOFAL

Whenever you look for Chester,
And cannot find him around,
You'll find him sunk in a great big book,
He's the biggest book-worm in town.

ORPHA DEMERS

Orphs, who in school was gay,
And very, very wise,
Would like to be a specialist
In fixing people's eyes.

ELEANOR EKHOLM

El'nor will stick to Connie till
Her trouble at last begins,
For she must stay at home more now,
To nurse her little twins.

AUGUSTO FERNANDES

Into a shoe store, years from now,
Walks Augusto, so tall—till when,
The lady, smiling, asks, "What size?"
'Gusto answers, shrinking, "Size Ten!"

FRANCIS FINNI

Francis a farmer fat will be
Upon a farm out West,
Off all the farms from miles around,
His products are the best.

CONSTANCE FOWLER

Connie is such a quiet girl,
And has such winning ways,
She'll make her friends see why it's said
That smiling always pays.

OLGA GAWLOWICZ

Olga is so sweet and shy,
She's never pert or bold;
We're sure her patients will get well,
If just their hand she'll hold.

ELIZABETH GIBSON

Libby will follow her sister Ruth,
And away to Dean will go;
What she will be when she leaves there,
Only the Future can know.

RUTH GIFFORD

This little girl from Syracuse
Is smart as she can be;
When looking her up ten years from now,
A genius bright she'll be.

ROSALYN GOLDFARB

Rossy's pals in society
Are charging her with treason,
Because she married secretly
The best catch of the season.

VIOLET GONSALVES

A loving wife will Violet be,
And raise her little tots
To be as smart in school as she,
And to study lots and lots.

JENNIE GORKA

A farmer's wife will Jennie be,
And help her hubby hoe
The garden large and plant the seeds
Of flowers, row on row.

SAMUEL GOTTESMAN

Sammy is so full of pep,
We wonder what will be
The outcome of his future trade,
When he's in dentistry.

LOIS GRIGWARE

Lois an actress famed will be,
And that will be the reason—
You'll see her in the leading parts
Of the best shows of the season.

EARL HAND

Earl has got the gift of gab,
He expresses his thoughts with force;
An announcer on the N.B.C.
We all hope he grows hoarse!

MARGERY HESFORD

Margery's locks of golden hair
Should surely bring her fame;
And when she graduates from Smith,
Success be to her name!

MARGARET HILL

A brush of paint, a dash, and lo!
A masterpiece is done;
It's Margaret Hill, an artist great,
Since painting she's begun.

PAULINE HILL

Pauline's patients grin in pain,
When to their beds she'll start;
They have a pain, they don't know where,
But it's right around their heart.

AGNES HOLDEN

Agnes plays the violin
With so much grace that she
Will take her place with others great
In the New York Symphony.

ELEANOR HOLDEN

A sweet young lass of very few words
Is this Miss Eleanor Holden;
And so through life this will ever be
Her motto: "Silence is Golden".

RUTH HORSFALL

If Ruthie smiles as she does now,
When storms beset her path,
We know she'll be a great success
When she is teaching Math.

BERNICE HORVITZ

Bernice portrays dramatics
With so much grace and ease;
She will be claimed the second best,
To Garden, if you please.

HAROLD HURWITZ

Harold loves to argue so,
In twenty years 'tis seen,
He'll find himself the leader of
A great debating team.

HELEN JARUSIK

Helen, too, is going to be
A teacher who will spank
The naughty boys and all of those
Who get too low a rank.

HELEN KOCZERGA

We know that Helen's future plans
Are no great mystery;
We wish her luck (she sure has pluck)
When she teaches History.

EDWARD KOSIBA

Eddie was a star in sports,
So this athletic male
Should make a great success of life,
As football coach at Yale.

ENOS LOPES

This lad a flyer high will be,
Among the clouds until—
A crash, a bang—a resting stone:
"Here lies poor Lopes so still."

HELEN MARSDEN

Helen has such winning ways,
No wonder she'll make good,
In keeping house for hubby dear,
As every good wife should.

AURILLA MIKUS

Aurilla's such a studious miss,
So smart and full of pep;
A lawyer she should surely be,
And fight for people's rep.

OWEN MURPHY

Owen never meddled much
In other folk's affairs;
He sure will be a preacher good,
Of sermons and of prayers.

IRENE PARENDELIS

Irene was always smart in school,
She set a goodly pace;
To say she will succeed at Brown
Would not be out of place.

WENDELL PHILLIPS

Wendell is so shy a lad,
(And that's so seldom found)
He'll be the ideal hero of
The girls for miles around.

CORINNE PIERCE

Corinne will be a buyer of clothes,
In a store of women's dress;
Judging from the clothes she wears now,
Her business will be a success.

JENNIE PLAZA

Jennie will teach the kiddies how
To add and multiply,
And if two and two don't add to four,
"Stay after school," she'll cry.

JOHN CLINTON RIMMER

Can you imagine Clinton R.
In a little church as deacon?
Look at him now and you'd never think,
That to the world he'll be a beacon.

LAURA ROBAK

She always knows her lessons well,
That's why we may predict;
When Laura is through school she'll be
A teacher stern and strict.

MARY ROGERS

Mary's face is always bright,
Her smile is ever gay;
And those two hings will pull her o'er
The obstacles in her way

GERTRUDE RUSITZSKY

Gertrude will lead the honor role
When she goes to Cornell.
But what's the good of a college degree,
If flowers she must sell?

RUTH SENESAC

Ruth a school ma'am stern will be,
She'll try not to be mild,
And yet her rule will always be
To "spare the rod and save the child."

ISRAEL SHUSTER

Shuster was so good in Chem,
It really is a pity
He has to peddle his father's fruits,
From his big fruit stand down city.

ELLA SIEGAL

Ella need not worry now,
Of having to study more;
To college she has no need to go,
To clerk in her father's store.

ELEANOR SISSON

Bridgewater sure will gain a peach,
When they get this winsome lass;
And when commencement rolls around,
We're sure she'll lead her class.

CHARLOTTE SMITH

Charlotte knows her pretty clothes,
Her way through life she'll press
With great renown when she will be
A model of women's dress.

EDNA SPOONER

Edna will be an operator
Of telephones, if you please;
You'll know it's her be her deep, rich voice,
When she asks you, "Number please?"

RICHARD STANLEY

Dick is such a bookish lad,
For him we cannot see
A future that would fit him more,
Than a writer of History.

LOUIS VEILLEUX

Louis knows his soldier boys,
And so we hope that he
Will conquer armies great and small,
When a general great he'll be.

JACK WISHNEFSKY

We still can't find the reason why,
Despite the gods above,
Fate cut far short Jack's college life—
And made him fall in love.

LOUIS WITKOS

Louis may work in an office large,
And earn his boss's praise,
But the boss won't be so cheerful when
Louis asks him for a raise.

Commercial Course

By MARY MOULTON and ERNEST RAPOZA

GEORGIANA ALMEIDA

Our Georgie is an employee now
Of the Telephone Company,
She likes to talk a lot, you know
So this suits her admirably.

LILIAN ASHLEY

Our platinum blond was a quiet miss
In no one would she confide,
But that did not stop her from finding success
She's a mannequin known far and wide.

DAVID AULISIO

Our Dave is an athletic coach
Wiry and alert;
He teaches the football huskies
How to eat the dirt.

EILEEN BACKUS

Eileen will be a story writer
And write about the sea,
Her books will be such a success
That she'll have to raise the fee.

REBECCA BARISHEFSKI

Whenever you need an advisor,
Or someone to council you,
Go see our little Rebecca
She's a counselor good and true.

ELEANOR BAYREUTHER

From over the ocean, over the sea,
Comes news from an old school mate;
She's studying with an artist in Paree
And has become a painter first-rate.

IRENE BERNIER

Irene will be very efficient indeed
With her voice still soft and low,
She'll sing, and she'll dance and make merry
And make, for herself, lots of dough.

RAYMOND BESSE

When you want a tennis star
Just take a look at Ray,
He hits the ball all over the lot
And serves an Ace each day.

ANNA J. BLAIS

Anna, a politician will be
She'll make a couple of millions,
But she won't get snobbish or think herself
big,
She'll be like all other civilians.

REJANE BLANCHETTE

Her fingers fly like lightning
She has achieved her fame
As champion typist of the world
And she must live up to her name.

PRISCILLA BOWMAN

"Prissy" will always be quite well off,
But she'll tell everyone on earth
Till some wise guy takes it off of her,
Then what will she be worth?

WILLIAM BRALEY

Who's that coming down the street?
Well, if it isn't our own Bill,
Ladies are following him all around
Boy! Does he get a thrill!!!

PAUL BRANCHAUD

Paul always had the gift of gab
So now he's doing fine;
He's a successful traveling salesman
With an expert selling line.

FLORENCE BRIGGS

Her ambition is to reach a high goal
And we all know she'll make it
Because she's efficient—and as for dictation
She sure knows how to take it.

ALBERT BROADLAND

Albert in an airplane pilot,
He flies at Colonel Green's;
Some day he's liable to get sore
And fly through your kitchen screens.

MARY CABRAL

Mary was going to be a wife
But she chose a career instead,
Now she is secretary for a large concern
And earning her meat and bread.

RITA CARRIER

Rita talks in History class,
In her other classes, too;
She'll soon be almost all talked out
And then what will she do?

ROSE CEDAR

In years to come, we will see
Our "Rosebud" living happily,
A saleslady of great renown
Selling Paris model gowns.

THOMAS CHASE

Tommy will join with the sailor lads
And have a girl in every nation,
Then every time he's off on leave
They'll cheer him in his occupation.

LOIS CHADWICK

The scene is laid in a hospital room
And the patient is seriously sick,
But, Lois, the nurse, makes him well again
And so surprisingly quick.

GABRIELLE CHAMPAGNE

"Gay" went away to school
To win herself degrees,
Now she's in the kindergarten
Teaching kids their A B C's.

HENRY COHEN

A student of chiropody,
A scholar of renown,
Our Henry is ambitious,
And seeks a golden crown.

ROSE COHEN

Rosie's been away to school
To some popular college,
So now she is quite smart at work
Her head's just crammed with knowledge.

LOUISE CONDEZ

She publishes books for children
She thinks it's very "neat",
She's doing very well—for her
There is no word "defeat".

DOROTHY CROOKS

She surely knew her shorthand,
When in school she got her "A",
Now "Dot" is a stenographer
And she makes those "A's" pay.

SYLVIA DANIS

Sylvia as a news reporter
Writes on all the pages,
And Sylvia has reason to be very happy
Because of her high wages.

MAURICE DANSEREAU

A philosopher is Maurice
Who knows the whole of life,
Let's hope that he is still one
When he picks himself a wife.

WILLIAM DARLING

He's now a daring cow-boy
Way out in the wooly west,
And when the girls crowd round him
He's always at his best.

DOROTHY DAVIES

Dot will be a typist, going
At such a rate of speed
That her boss will fire his other help
She will be all he will need.

PHYLLIS DAY

Phyllis fixes people's hair,
She beautifies the face,
She manicures and makes them up,
She sure does set a pace.

GERTRUDE DEASY

Gertrude will be an authoress
And good stories she will write,
To be a big success in this
She'll try with all her might.

MILTON DEWHURST

He's going to be a floor walker
On a thirty-second floor,
But he's going to make lots of money soon
Then he won't have to work any more.

CECILE DEXTRAZE

Our "Ciss" will surely be stepping out
When she is a grown-up girl,
She'll be a social climber
And keep the young men in a whirl.

HELEN DUMEC

She's singing out in Arkansas
And does she make a hit,
Society sits and gazes with awe
When she comes out to do her bit.

FRANK FIGAZOLO

In school he was so quiet
No one really knew his worth,
Now he's a prosperous business man
For being quiet and alert.

ERNEST FINDLEY

When Ernest was an editor at school
For the Brevities he fought,
Now he has become a writer
Of stories both long and short.

RITA FORTIN

She's going to work on a set of books
For a chain of variety stores,
She'll be a success, cause she's not afraid
To do a few extra chores.

GEORGE FOSS

Now George is a great comedian
Who makes us laugh in glee,
And when he laughs and pokes a bit
The crowd goes on a spree.

ANGELO FRAGA

If you like good music
Listen to the one man band,
Listen to Angelo who has become
Such a musical man.

AMELIA FURTADO

"Millie" will be a private sec
And take down lots of notes,
She'll work for candidate of Presidency
And get him lots of votes.

JOSEPH GASPAR

Now Joseph is a diplomat
Who negotiates with nations,
And with his yearly salary
Can live on triple rations

JEANNE GAUDETTE

Jeanne will be a "Gym teacher"
And with a cry and a shout
She'll show the kiddies what to do
And make them run about.

MARY GERO

Mary inherited the love of travel
So she'll get to be quite a rover,
She's been to every foreign place
Looking the whole world over.

NATALIE GIFFORD

If you see a girl in a florist shop
Carefully studying flowers,
You can guess it will be "Nat" Gifford,
That's where she spends spare hours.

JOHN GLYNN

Over the sea, over the ocean
That's where John has gone,
He's a diplomatic agent
And says nothing wrong.

RAY GOBEIL

He was a happy-go-lucky boy
A smile was on his face each day,
Now he's smiling for a "big" show
His name stands out on old Broadway.

WILLIAM GOLDRICK

When in school he would blush
If the teacher on him would call,
But now he has trained himself
Not to blush at all.

SHIRLEY GOLDSTEIN

Always talking, talking, talking
That's what Shirley does,
So now she's got herself a job
Answering the telephone buzz.

IRENE GOODHUE

Oh, for the life of a follies' girl
With a pay check fat and chubby,
Who, if she dares, will have enough
To support a happy hubby.

LAURETTA GOSSELIN

She'll go to the cold countries and to the hot
All over the earth she'll roam,
She'll have money to burn, or to buy what she wants,
But she never will buy a home.

ELLIOT GRAY

Now "Elly" is a famed economist
Helping with laws of Supply & Demand
Whose Paradox is value
And is hard to understand.

JULIET GUISTI

"Julie" has got a restaurant,
The food there can't be beat,
She serves Guisti's bread and angel cakes
Seven days a week.

GEORGE HAND

George is very popular
There always hanging round,
And a girl that doesn't love him
Cannot on earth be found.

RITA HANRAHAN

Rita can be depended upon
Just as in days gone past,
To her boss there is no one quite like her,
She comes first and last.

JOHN HARRINGTON

Who writes of murders every day?
And scandal in the news?
Harrington, the journalist
Whose fame he cannot lose.

RALPH HARRINGTON

Now Ralph is not like Johnny,
No—Ralph is a shiek
Who lives on alimony
And divorces every week.

NORMAN HARRISON

Now when you hear a sermon
One you can't forget,
When you're stirred up by a Reverend's eloquence
It's Harrison, I'll bet.

FRANCES HEYS

Frances is the same blond miss
And always in a hurry.
Her shiny nose as usual
Seems to be her only worry.

DOROTHY HEYWOOD

She'll always be a social success
Whether travelling far or near,
And she'll be greeted everywhere
With a hearty and rousing good cheer.

ROBERT HOUGHTON

Bob's going to be an expert accountant
He always was very clever,
The money will come rolling into him
He'll live in luxury forever.

HILDA HYNES

In school she couldn't keep quiet
She always would talk and talk
And now that she's a stage star
She refuses, when asked to talk.

CECELIA JANASIEWICZ

She isn't like she used to be
She doesn't work as hard,
She's a lady of leisure, but she isn't stuck-up
She often drops a card.

HAZEL JOHNSON

In school she was always so smart
Her lessons were always right,
Now in her boss's office
She works from morn' till night.

MILLICENT JOHNSON

The boss won't bother how fast he dictates
She can get it all,
She changed a lot since she went to school
She's now quite strong and tall.

MARY JOSEFA

She's now an ardent working girl
Way out in gay Paree,
She bosses all the other girls,
They call her "Miss Marie".

ROLAND KELLEY

"Aw, Ladies, please await your turn"
Begs Roland as loud as he can,
But the ladies are fighting to have their turn next,
He's quite the ladies' man.

BEATRICE KINGSLEY

In school she was a sponsor
And flirted with the boys,
Now she has become an excellent nurse
And hollers "Please, no noise!"

DIANE KONDI

Folks have been said to get a thrill
When they look in her eyes,
For she's always herself and quite sociable
And she wears no disguise.

SELMA KROUDVIRD

She'll be a famous aviatrix
And make people strain an eye
To catch a glimpse of her speeding plane
As she flies through the sky.

LORETTA LAFRENAIS

Letty's got a perfect job
It must have been through fate,
She's head of the Wall Street Concern,
She's certainly doing great.

BERTHA LEMAIRE

Bertha as a private nurse
Will walk for many a mile
To take care of a person sick,
Enjoying herself all the while.

YVETTE LEVESQUE

"Vetty" will move to Montreal
Where the wind does blow and blow,
She'll be a nurse there and to get to the sick
She'll tramp through ice and snow.

NORMAN MARCHESSAULT

Just a gigolo is he
Also one of the best,
He dances about seven hours a day
And spends the other in rest.

DOROTHY MARCILLE

Whenever you need a new dress
That's different in every line,
Go see our carefree Dorothy
Her dresses are certainly fine.

ELMER McCALL

Oh! Elmer, you idealist
Who great things would attain,
The road to fame is difficult
A writer has his pain.

KATHLEEN McMAHON

Her smile is quite spectacular,
There's a crinkle in her chin,
You'll hear her laugh and then you'll see
Two dimples and a grin.

FRANK MILAS

In order to be a great success
He had to have a chance,
And so he became a great artist
'Way over there in France.

HARRY MILLER

Harry, our little schoolmate
Who was so brave and bold
Tried to get a steady job
But was left out in the cold.

ARTHUR MONTEIRO

To be a basket-ball player
One must be sturdy and fast,
And that fits Arthur best
For you see, he's iron cast.

ANNA MONTIGNEY

Little Anna who was so quiet
Has become quite a queen,
People applaud her loud and long
When she appears on the screen.

MARY MORRISSEY

Mary will be a cake baker,
She thinks it's lots of fun;
If you want to get indigestion
Just go and purchase one.

OLGA MOURA

She's going to do some office work
For a concern that is well known,
She'll do her work, and pretty soon
She'll start a business of her own.

MILDRED MURPHY

Now "Millie" is a redhead
And redheads succeed, they say,
But prophecies are hard to make
About girls anyway.

VALENTINA NEREU

She'll be an excellent crooner
She'll sing over the air,
She'll group with Rudy Vallee
And our "Val" won't have a care.

ANNA NEVILLE

Tell us your wish, young Annie,
What do you wish to be?
A lady dressed in fashion?
Or a housewife who is free?

GLADYS NEWSHAM

Gladys is going to be a nurse
And keep everyone in health,
And after she's had a bit of experience
She's going to be rolling in wealth.

ROSELLA NORTON

A singer is Rosella
Who likes to climb the scales,
And when she tries to reach High C
Her voice—it never fails.

STATIA OLEJARCZYK

Statia's working for a man
Supposed to be a crank,
He likes her so, he raised her pay,
Now she's got money in the bank.

RENE OUELLETTE

Rene will be a gigolo
With all the girls he'll waltz,
But someday he will find THE girl
And to her he won't play false.

YVONNE PAUL

Now Yvonne's great ambition
Is to be a dancer great,
For dancers go out early
And also come home late.

KAZIE PELCZAR

Kazie talks to everyone
And talks with such a force
That pretty soon she'll have to stop
Her voice will be so hoarse.

AURORA PERRAS

Ora is no longer a little girl
She's put her dolls on the shelf,
But don't think she's haughty or acting big
For her motto is "Be Yourself".

HENRY PIETRZYKOWSKI

Soon you will see his picture
On every sporting page,
His fans will be simply wild about him,
He will be quite the rage.

ARTHUR PILKINGTON

Our "Art" is an expert yachtsman
A craftsman on a lake,
Who lives up to the motto
Art is for "Art's" sake.

ALTHEA POTTER

"Allie" is going to move to Palm Beach
Where the palm trees are cool and shady,
She'll have nothing to do but sleep and play
And lead the life of a lady.

MICHAEL PROCYK

"Mikey" will be a lion tamer
And make the lions smile,
He'll take the whole gang for a walk
Along the river Nile.

EDWARD PRZYBYLA

If you're planning for a picnic
Ask Eddie if the air'll be clear,
He's now a "Dr. Miles" weather man
Telling the weather each year.

ELMER RADCLIFFE

If Elmer went into politics
I think he would succeed,
He knows a little of everything
And that's something he will need.

ERIC REDFERN

A genius in literature
A marvel in the arts,
Our Eric will be a wonder
In any work he starts.

GERTRUDE REDFERN

Up! Down! Turn around!
Gertie's very busy,
She's teaching gym to children
She makes them all feel dizzy.

FREDERICK ROBINSON

A photographer Fred has become,
So when your children graduate
Send them to have their pictures taken
At the studio of an old classmate.

RUTH ROBINSON

Now that women have business heads
I know what Ruth will be,
Yet female business heads must work hard
As she is soon to see.

HAZEL ROGERS

Hazel who is so carefree,
Has left our fairest of cities,
She works for a New York paper,
All she does is write ditties.

EDNA ROGERSON

If in years to come you should attend
A session of the court,
You'd see our Edna at her work
Taking a shorthand report.

MAE RONALD

She came to us from Quincy,
And back again she'll race
To marry a childhood sweetheart,
Of sweet revenge it is a case.

VIRGINIA ROSEN

Two calories of this and three of that,
Not too much now, or they'll make you fat,
As a dietician "Gingers" made a good name,
And she will go down in the "History of Fame."

HYMAN ROTHKOPF

Hyman will be a great magician
And make things disappear,
He'll leave at every place he goes
A handsome souvenir.

IRENE ROY

A stenographer Irene wants to be,
And she'll be a very good one.
She'll do her work and earn her pay,
Then she can have her fun.

JOHN SANTOS

He's going to be a pugilist
And spoil a lot of faces,
But he'll win titles and earn large checks
And travels lots of places.

LORRAINE SEGUIN

Lorraine was an honor student
With all A's and maybe a B,
Now that she is out of school
Is she just as smart? Oui!

CAROL SHELLEY

Ten years from now the rumor will be
"Shelley's composed a new theme,"
The people have gone simply wild over her,
Her new number is "Oh, What A Dream."

FLORENCE SHIEF

Florence will be an artist,
She'll own a little den,
We know she'll be a big success
Cause she certainly can draw men.

FRANK SILVIA

Now Frankie has an orchestra
And they play everywhere,
I hope to hear them play some day
As artists on the air.

HELEN SITARZ

She's got a dependable head on her,
She's not afraid to work it,
She loves to take dictation
And she wouldn't try to shirk it.

GEORGE STILLER

George will run a theatre,
He'll give us all free passes,
He'll remember all his friends at school
When we were lads and lasses.

EDWARD SYLVIA

Whenever you're in a mixup,
Or at a light you fail to stop,
Go see Eddie, Attorney at Law,
Tell him it was the fault of the cop.

ADELA SCZEPAN

You never hear anything bad about her,
She's quiet and sedate,
But she is the type that most boys like
And soon she'll find her mate.

DOROTHY TAFFE

When speaking of futures there's no doubt about hers,
She's bound to get ahead,
With her ready wit and her ready smile
And her plea that she never will wed.

CZESLAW TARADEJNA

Our country needs ambassadors
And diplomats adept,
And "Czesie" has this place carved out,
For him it has been kept.

BETTY TAYLOR

So she became a secretary
To a cheerful boss all day,
And when the boss goes out to lunch
All she does is play.

EVELYN TESSIER

If you would write scenarios
In the years that will be here,
You must put your whole heart into it
Or you will fail, I fear.

WILFRED THEBERGE

Now "Bill" is the musical boy
Who would be King of Jazz,
To succeed—he'd be able to stand it,
The flattery and the razz.

ERNEST TORRES

Good player he was in every sport,
But baseball was Ernie's best,
So he joined the Boston Red Sox,
Now he outplays the rest.

CAROLYN TRAVERS

Kitty will be a favorite
On every "vodvil' bill,
She'll toe dance and she'll tap dance
And she'll give you all a thrill.

GENEVA TRIPP

When asked once at school what she wanted to be
She replied "A queen for a day",
But now she is happy with her husband and child,
And her school days seem far, far away.

ALBERT TRUDELLE

Boys today don't often blush
But this one is an exception,
For if a girl should speak to him
A blush is their reception.

EVELYN TYSON

Evelyn is good at every sport
And lots of other things,
But I think she will go on the stage
Because you see—she sings.

THELMA VANDAL

Ringlets, permanents, marcels,
These are Thelma's specialty.
She will charge you quite a lot
To have them done in reality.

SAM WARD

When next you see our Sammy
You'd better cross the street,
Or he'll surely try to sell you something,
He's a salesman now for wheat.

CHARLOTTE WESTGATE

Perhaps you'd like to be a typist
And labor over each key,
So I'll just let you have a job
As secretary—by gee!

PEARL WHITE

On the radio our little Pearl
Has picked one soft spot,
For all the work she ever does
Is giggle and giggle a lot.

THOMAS WHOLLEY

Tommy is holding a good position
As president of a bank,
He's risen to fame and fortune renown,
The public is awed at his rank.

SARAH WITHERINGTON

She travels east, west, north, and south,
She travels near and far,
It's our own Sarah from old N. B.
She's now an opera star.

BERTHA YEATON

Eni, meni, mini, mo,
I guess this is the one,
She's married to an architect
And has a little son.

HAZEL YEATON

The other one I rise to say
Went seeking a career,
She has a business of her own
And is doing well, I hear.

Normal Course

By MURIEL TUBBY

ALICE ADAMOWSKA

Alice plans to be a teacher,
That would be a shame,
For as a crystal gazer
She surely would win fame.

ALICE BEAN

As a designer of rock gardens,
She's going to make her way,
Planning pools and fountains
Edged with rocks and flowers gay.

PRISCILLA CHURCH

Someone will bequeath her
An old, old house that creaks,
And that will be the very place
For her to sell antiques.

LOUISE COLLINS

In the hazy distance
I can clearly see
Louise among the scientists
In far off Germany.

WINONA COOMBS

Much to our regret,
To Alaska she will go
And teach the art of etiquette
To little Eskimos.

MARY COUGHLIN

Now she is a Red Cross Nurse
Working in a welfare center,
But we're due for a surprise
Mary's lost her temper.

HELEN DANIELS

In ten more years,
It won't be later,
She will be known
As a great debator.

BARBARA E. DAVIS

There won't be any maybes
For I am very sure
She will take care of babies,
And she never will be poor.

ELEANOR V. DELANO

She will sit behind a desk
Stamping books and cards
In a New York library,
And she'll send us her regards.

MARGORIE DIAS

She's going to be the pilot
Of a transatlantic plane
Ere long she will be hopping off
To warm and sunny Spain.

JEANNE DIONNE

Jeanne likes her city very well,
She's not inclined to roam,
So for several years at least
She'll prefer to stay at home.

EDNA DUFFEY

In a little red school house
In the blue-bonnet state
She'll teach lads and lasses
To write on a slate.

DORIS FAYAN

A designer of fine fashions
For movie stars she'll be,
Fitting silks and satins
To hang so gracefully.

GLADYS HOUGHTON

In a sunny office
On Fifth Avenue
She'll assist a doctor
To examine you.

MELVINA HUNT

She will run a candy shop
In the state of Maine,
Delicious fudge and caramels
Will win her state-wide fame.

HARRIET IRWIN

From St. Luke's with honors
She soon will graduate,
Then she'll supervise a ward
With manners so sedate.

AMY LESTER

She'll go to Provincetown,
Gain the artists' colony,
Win fame and great renown
Painting pictures of the sea.

ESTHER LEVOW

To a Teachers' State College
Our Esther will go,
And under her feet
No grass will grow.

URANIA MACHADO

Her skies are blue,
Her days are sunny,
She'll marry a man
With lots of money.

LOIS MASON

We see her at the wedding
Of a rich man's only daughter,
She represents the Herald,
And is their star reporter.

LIBANIA PORTO

Libby likes domestic art,
So I'm sure she'll be
A very fine instructor
Of home economy.

MARION ROBERTS

She wants to be a nurse,
She surely could do worse,
But I would rather see her
As a writer of blank verse.

MARGARET RUSSELL

In a modernistic studio
From early morn 'til night
She'll work as a photographer
To everyone's delight.

ALYS SENNA

Her name you will see
On magazine covers,
Her art will illustrate
Story-book lovers.

CLAIRE THUOT

In years to come
No doubt you'll see
Her lead with skill
A symphony.

IRENE WEHOCKEY

In a quaint old village
She will keep an inn
For rest to weary travellers
Away from the city din.

OTELIA ZIELSKA

Now she is a nursemaid
In a castle by the sea,
For two English lasses
Who sit upon her knee.

EUGENIA ZIEMBA

She'll be very famous
For her book on chemistry;
It will teach you how to think
And to reason logic'ly.

Scientific Course

By THOMAS M. BONNAR

WILLIAM ABESHAUS

Surrounded by ties and overcoats
And price tags galore,
Bill has become a manager
Of a high grade clothing store.

PAUL AILLERY

Among the flowers and the plants,
Of Paul's sweet smelling shops,
We see him in the future
At raising plenty of hops.

WILLIAM BARTER

In this small town of ours,
We welcome William Barter,
As a first-rate comedian
Capable of causing laughter.

EDWIN BATES

Bates is in the show business
Trying to change the game,
He does not appear to succeed
As girls to him are all the same.

EDWIN BEGIN

A rousing cheer for Edwin Begin
Our troubles will be less,
For he as tax-refunder
Brings joy and happiness.

WILLIAM BLACKBURN

Billy will an ash-man be
Who serves us everyone,
Although your barrels he will split,
Of hard luck, you'll wish him none.

FRANCIS CALNAN

Picture Fran as a service man
Obtaining his life's desires,
Through working in a barn
Fixing old flat tires.

KATHLEEN CARROLL

Kathie Carroll is fond of dancing,
Perhaps the follies she will make;
The movie-men will be glancing
And oh!—the money she will rake.

RUSSELL CONN

Russ slaves in a factory
From early morn till night,
To be a foreman is his aim
And to it strives with all his might.

JOHN CURRAN

Johnnie will be a professor
In some unknown retreat,
Although he is distinguished
It doesn't mean that both ends meet.

KAZIMIR CZARNECKI

Kazie will be a farmer
Way out in the west,
Although he is just starting
We all hope for the best.

RAYMOND DAWSON

Ray Dawson owns a great many
Liquors bonded and sealed,
He sells it very freely, now
As the 18th amendment is repealed.

JAMES DRINKWATER

Jimmie will a capitalist be
High finance will be his mein
Building the land, controlling the sea
And giving advice away free.

LAURENCE DURFEE

Durfee is a big contractor
Building bridges is his line,
The depression, he's thrown out,
And all the world is going fine.

BERTEL EKHOLM

On the bench in the court
Bert Ekholm has his way,
All defendants hate to hear
His ten dollars or ten days.

EDWARD FISCHER

When your brother or your friend
Needs anything to eat,
Send them to Fischer's tea-room
And he'll fill them full of meat.

RAYMOND FOSTER

Ray will be a chauffeur
To some high society fop,
He hears his every command
Save when he says "Stop".

ELLSWORTH GREENHOUGH

When you wish a painting,
Go to our friend Greenhough,
Although his scenes you will enjoy
For his bills you'll shell out dough.

PAUL GRENIER

Paulie will a fishman be
Selling haddocks, cods, and trouts,
A vender in the streets he will be
As lustily his wares, he shouts.

WILLIAM GROEBE

A jeweler will be our friend, Groebe
Who tinkers with watches and stones,
He'll appraise your opals and rubies
But try to collect any loans.

JEROME GROSSMAN

Grossman a postman will beat our way
Delivering letters gay and sad,
Dressed in natty blue or gray
He appears to us quite the lad.

LEONARD GURNEY

Friend Gurney will browse with the cows
Digging against depression and time
He'll weild the shovels and ploughs
And count his money dime by dime.

CARL HARDY

Hardy will raise perennials
And dainty little vines,
Subscribe to all seed annuals
And invent horticultural finds.

HASSEY F. HASSEY

Hassey F. Hassey invented a new chassis
Trim in color and line
To his success, that is the key
Now Fleetwood and Fisher do nothing but pine.

MILTON HORENSTEIN

Milt will be a navigator
And flit o'er the waves,
And if we have another war
He'll lead the naval braves.

EDWIN JONES

An undertaker we'll have in Edwin Jones
He'll be nice to you now, and smile and grin,
But don't be mislead by his joyful chin
Cause when you die, he'll rattle your bones.

WALTER JWASZKE

Wally will kick foot-balls around
And earn his college letters, too,
For prestige he sure is bound
A credit, we agree is due.

IRVING KAPLAN

Irving will outfit your house
Buy direct, or order through the mail
Shades for the lamp and traps for the mouse,
Be first to attend his opening sale.

GEORGE KRUMBHOLZ

George Krumbholz a brewer should be
Surpassing Pilsner, Budweizer, and Schlitz,
His three point two or four you see
Might grace the bar of the Ritz.

EDWARD LAZOWSKA

Ed will be a mannequin
And strut and strut and pose,
He'll put on a polished subtle grin
And in his lapel a pastel rose.

WILLIAM LEAHY

Bill will be reporting news
For the New Bedford Standard-Times,
He gathers daily tid-bits
From various foreign climes.

RICHARD LEE

Among the rich men of Ceylon
Dick Lee you're sure to see
A planter and shipper of Fine coffee and good tea.

AUGUSTO LEITE

Our good friend Leite is bound to fight
Professionally of course,
He'll feint and jab with all his might,
Acclaim will come with flattering force.

GREGORIO LUIZ

Greg was good at throwing basket-ball
So now he throws a salesman line,
And sells silk stocking to the dolls
From the banks of the Acushnet to the Rhine.

RODRIQUE LUSSIER

Rodrique may make the silver screen
And pose with all the stars,
Achieving fame in every scene
He'll sport gorgeous clothes and cars.

ELMO McAULLIFF

Elmo will make All-American
And major the big leagues,
And be a very envied man
An accomplishment far from meagre.

ALFRED MAINO

A pistol expert we'll have in Alfred,
Helping police in all their crimes
His weighty decisions weighed and read
He's the sensation of the times.

GERALD METTHE

A druggist will be friend Metthe
With little powders and pills,
Prescriptions he'll fill with glee
Curing all your ills.

GEORGE MITCHELL

Mitchell's beauty-parlor is open
To all the women and girls,
He spends his time at plucking brows
While on straight hair, he maketh curls.

OSCAR MORENCY

Oscar Morency has graduated
From the very highest college
And being on his own hook now
Has attained "beaucoup de" knowledge.

SHELDON MORSE

One look at his noble brow
And a collar ad we see,
For Shelly is in the business now
Posing for the Arrow Company.

LORNTS NILSON

Lornts has made a million
Through dint of many labors,
He owes, his very success
To producing little sabres.

LOUIS PACHECO

Louis is selling real estate
To all the richer class,
But on the ground he sells them
You couldn't raise a blade of grass.

ALLEN RAMSBOTHAM

A historian will our Allen be
Of International affairs,
When not a citing wars
He deals with foreign cares.

HERBERT ROGERS

Rogers will be an ice-man
Enemy of Frigidaire,
Gladly he'll empty your ice-pan
And charge you as much as he dares.

CHARLES SHANKS

Charlie will drive a racing car
Neatly named the "Evening Star",
Home he'll bring medals and renown
All over the world and in this town.

SAMUEL SHORROK

Sammy Shorrok is in a circus
Doing the midget act,
That he will be very good
Is a mighty well-known fact.

RUSSEL STEELE

Rusty will be a great runner
Perhaps a Paddock he'll be,
The races of which he is the winner
Will remain for us all to see.

JOSEPH STILLER

Joe Stiller will be a son of the soil
Planting hay, rhubarb, and grain;
If he keeps up this honest toil
Success should follow him like rain.

RAYMOND SZULIK

In our city, all so neat
Ray will sweep our busy street,
In a suit so clean and white
He makes the town to shine so bright.

AMOS TAYLOR

Amos Taylor will be a boxer
Of fame and great renown;
He dresses as a "smoothy" now
Posing as a man about town.

WARREN THOMPSON

Thompson will be a good musician
Down in Littletown, Tennessee;
Now he's obtained a fine position,
It pays to blow your horn you see.

WILLIAM TRIMBLE

Willie Trimble found a thimble
Back of Mosher's Pond;
He danced lightly and nimble
Now of mending and stitching he's fond.

LAWRENCE WHITE

A preacher sure is Larry White
Dressed in a long black gown;
He lives in Brattleboro now
Being happy in that town.

Prophecies of the Prophets

THOMAS BONNAR

As prophet, Tommy's worked so hard
We'll give him an easy thing to do
So we'll assign him to the job
Of trainer in a zoo.

STELLA JENKINSON

Stella will work in a downtown office
Pounding on typewriter keys;
And being just a novice
She crosses her i's and dots her t's.

MARY MOULTON

Our Mary will be
In constant demand
As a teacher of business
All over the land.

ERNEST RAPOZA

Our Ernie is a Gigolo
Way down in New York City;
By being terribly busy,
He earns his living don't you know

MURIEL TUBBY

Muriel's a smart girl, even now
Her head if full of knowledge;
But she's not satisfied as it is,
She wants to go to college.
